

Tremor

Tremor is a neurological disorder that results in involuntary and rhythmic shaking. It is not a dangerous condition, but the symptoms worsen over time, most often involving trembling in hands affecting tasks like drinking, eating and writing.

